WINTER WEATHER AND ABSENCES

The usual winter weather disclaimer:

1. a) Don't come if the roads are bad.
b) Don't come if you are sick-----a cold band hall is no place to be if you are already fighting not feeling well.
2. If you can't come, or don't want to try to make it to practice, try to call me to let me know. It doesn't matter what time of day/evening/night, etc. you call. It doesn't bother me a bit.
3. NO band practice is worth sliding off the road or having to drive at 30 mph (or worse) to get there. I did that for too many years to get to my job in Columbus and to other points in the state to feel that kind of obligation to do it on a volunteer basis.
4. If you have any question about practice and the weather, please call. You know that there can be major changes in road conditions, or snowfall amounts, from even my house to Laura's, let alone from my house to as far as Becky's.

I have contact #'s for all of you, and e-mail addresses.

If the bad weather:

- gets worse than predicted,
- comes up suddenly, or I just haven't paid attention to conditions since I generally don't leave the house much,
- or if enough of you just feel like staying home due to outside conditions,
- or even other factors that come up,

I will do my best to make sure I make personal contact with each of you. If any of you have additional contact information you want me to try to use, other than what I have been using, just let me know.

6. If you want to check to confirm what contact info I have for you, just check with me at practice as it is all programmed on my phone and home computer.
7. I don't always cancel practice, or even make an announcement, when just one of you is going to be absent. Some of that is based on my own whim, capriciousness, and cantankerousness. (Apparently that last word made it past "Spell-check"). But I will definitely cancel it if two of you will be gone, so if something comes up and you can't make practice, let me know as soon as you get a chance and that may make the second person to be absent that night and I will go ahead and cancel it.
