Pumpkin Show Band set to give fourth concert at AmeriFlora Sunday

The Circleville Pumpkin Show Concert Band, upon special request of officials of AmeriFlora, will make their fourth appearance in the AmeriFlora Amphitheatre Sunday to play their sixth and seventh concerts of the summer in that location.

The concert band, under the direction of Clifford L. Kerns, offers a unique blend of traditional concert band and contemporary music, including marches and overtures, with a variety and virtuosity that has thrilled AmeriFlora visitors throughout the summer.

Included in the concerts to be played at 1 and 3 p.m. will be the works of M.W. Burkhardt and Ted Lewis, both of Circleville; "The Emperor Valse, Op. 437" by Johann Strauss; "American Folk Rhapsody 3" by Clare Grundmann; Tex Benekes arrangement of "St. Louis Blues March;" a special arrangement by William Russell titled "The Best of Sacred Music;" and John Phillip Sousa's "U.S. Field Artillery March." Also in the program will be a trombone specialty, "Bunch of Bones," and a tuba specialty, "Tea for Two for Tubas."
