

at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Circleville High School Auditorium. Bolender and Mike Diskin.

DEC 1992 12-2-92

Barbershop Christmas slated

The fourth Barbershop Christmas will be presented Saturday, in the Circleville High School auditorium. To start this evening of festive and holiday music The Pickaway Brass, under the direction of Clifford Kerns, will play Christmas holiday selections prior to the opening curtain.

Beginning at 8 p.m. The Minor Chords will perform traditional, inspirational and secular songs of the Christmas holiday season.

Following this performance, the Scioto Valley Chorus, a large Sweet Adeline Ladies Chorus from Columbus, will give the audience a recharge of musical energy with their award winning entertainment package.

After a brief intermission, the Minor Chords' featured male quartet, Ace In the Hole, will entertain with a beautiful blend of their favorite selections.

The grand finale when The Minor Chords will sing its special arrangement of "The Lords Prayer" and both choruses join together to sing "Silent Night" promises an emotional experience. Chords will be ringing everywhere with the warmth of the season and the true spirit of Christmas.

Approaching the holiday season — one of the most favorite times of the year — the musical groups want to share the joy of music and its meaning. Music often recalls personal memories of Thanksgiving feasts, family gatherings, tree trimming, beautiful store windows, festive lights and sharing gifts. Music is a special gift that usually symbolizes the praiseworthy and positive things in life.

Selections to be performed will remind listeners of a special red-nosed reindeer, a jolly Santa Claus, roasting chestnuts, jingling bells, sleigh rides, toylands, snowmen — a winter wonderland of rich tradition. Inspirational hymns expressing heartfelt beliefs also will be presented.

Tickets are available from members of The Minor Chord or by calling 477-2591.

Fraleigh: Veterans health care