PICKAWAY BRASS

Senior center holds its third summer concert

The third concert in Pickaway Senior Center's Summer Series will be at 2 p.m. Aug. 15. The Pickaway Brass, under the direction of Clifford Kerns, will be guest artists. It is free and open to the public.

The Pickaway Brass was formed in 1991 to perform at commencement for Circleville Bible College. Jeff Matthew and Laura K. Bethel, trumpet; Carol Geron, French horn; Jerry Voss, trombone; and Clifford Kerns, euphonium; make up the membership of the quintet.

The ensemble has performed at several local churches, Ameri-Flora, Bible College, "Picnic with the Pops" program, Christmas open-house at the May-Clarke museum, barbershop, Christmas and weddings.

Matthew, a graduate of Zane Trace High School and The Ohio State University, has played with the Adelphi Community Band, Aladdin Shrine Band and Pumpkin Show Band.

Bethel, a graduate of Logan Elm

High School and The Ohio State University, was a member of bands at both schools and a member of Pumpkin Show Band.

Geron has been an avid horn player most of her life, studied for many years at Capital University Conservatory of Music and is currently a member of the horn choir.

Voss has played in Fulton High School Band, University of Illinois-Second Regimental Band, Adelphi Band, Fayette County Band, Olivedale Band and Pumpkin Show Band.

Kerns, a graduate of Otterbein College and Boston University, has an extensive musical background and is the present conductor of the Pumpkin Show Band.

The Pickaway Brass play a variety of music, including Broadway show tunes, hymns, folk songs, marches and classical selections. The ensemble is available to play at events. For information contact Mary Jane Dean at 477-2100 or Kerns at 474-3711.
